The action taken by the Chickasaw Guards is characteristic of their proceedings at Huntsville, where they utterly failed to come up to the scratch. Now they desire to claim honors not won in drill. To make up for this lack of merit, they "resolve" that they are the cham-pions of the State, and attempt to make their unjust claims tenable by an attempt to hoodwink the Porter Rifles into the surrender of the medal. In the first place, the Chickasaw Guards had no right to retain the medal, as they have done. It should have remained in the transmission of sentimental messages. Though the telephone did not prove satisfactory in its operations last night, nevertheless, what we heard was truly an evidence of the reliability and efficiency of the content of the same of which we had occasion to should be agreed upon by the two companies. The medal was made in Memphis. Before any squabble about the drill came up, the Porter Rifles promptly paid half the cost of titled to the thanks of the community for the medal, which, after that, should have been turned over to the judges, to be done telephone and illustrate the peculiar characbeen turned over to the judges, to be done telephone and illustrate the peculiar character with as circumstances should demand, and ter of this scientific achievement. A NEW ENTERPRISE For the Bezefit of Memphis People A Plan to Prevent Exorbitant

Charges for Coal in this City.

Captain J. A. Wiggs, No. 81 Madison street, is engaged in a commendable enter-prise to be known as the "Co-operative coal association." The object of this association is to secure enough stock from citizens to supply them with coal at the very lowest possible figures. It is a well known fact that coal dealers in a supply them. dealers invariably increase their rates for this fuel every winter. In the summer-time there is but little demand for coal, and during that season, the prices are put down to reasonable, yet compensative figures. With all the fierceness of avowed opposition, no man, and no coal-dealer in Memphis, has ever truly desired, or honestly attempted, to break down a coal monopoly. Sometimes a coal dealer, for the sake of popularity, and in order to establish the belief that he is the friend of the poor, has temporarily reduced the price of coal. In less than two weeks, however, there has always been an agreement between coal dealers, and the price has therefore been of a mutual co-operation, such as Captain Wiggs is now organizing. It is proposed to secure a capital stock of fifty thousand dol-lars, which shall be expended in the purchase of the different and best known coal for this market. Each stockholder in this association will be entitled to buy as much coal as his share or shares may represent, at cost and carriage. The shares will be five dollars each. Outside parties will be allowed to buy coal from the association at the market price. There is no doubt but what the enterprise will prove successful. It deserves success In response, the following letter was addressed to the Chickasaw Guards:

PORTER RIPLES, 52 NORTH CHERRY STREET, NASHVILLE, TENN., September 28, 1877.

J. E. Holst, Esq., Secretary Chickasaw Guards, Memphis, Tennessee:

DEAR SIR—Your favor of the twenty-sixth at hand, addressed to Captain Donelson, and I am directed to say in reply that the "Porter Rifles" are desirous of retaining their interest in the medal, and feel that they are equally if not more entitled to its possession than the "Chickasaw Guards," at least for as long time as it has been held by them.

In we hope to see it inaugurated. The subscription books are now open, and stock is being taken daily. For twenty years, and without an exception, the coal dealers have enjoyed a monopoly in this and other markets. The co-operative system is the only one that can have any effect in affording the people coal at reasonable rates. All this talk about this or that in man, the hero of poverty and the champion of charity, being an enemy to coal monopolies, the friend of the poor and the philanthropist of the public, is absurd, and they show without an exception, the coal dealers have enjoyed a monopoly in this and other markets. The co-operative system is the only one that can have any effect in affording the people coal at reasonable rates. All this talk about this or that it they are equally if not more entitled to its possession than the "Chickasaw Guards," at least for as long time as it has been held by them. and we hope to see it inaugurated. Before our meeting I was told by some of our bondholders they did not wish in any collective capacity to take any steps in reference to our debt which might give encouragement to Sa-vannah, or place them in an embarrassing attitude toward that city. So at the meeting nise, but the whole matter was simply referred to a committe of three who were to report at some indefinite time, for reasons not only well known but satisfactory to me Charleston holds, from the best information l could get, a little more than two hundred thousand dollars of our bonds. At our meeting it was distinctly stated by its members that no one, if he wished to fund his bonds, see, at Huntsville, Alabama, on June 15, 1877, in consequence of the Chickasaw Guards absolutely declining to drill in accordance with Upton's tactics; and whereas, the medal agreed upon should have been awarded to us, if either company was entitled to it, or, as already requested, cut in two and divided between agels, therefore be it that the great bulk of our debt held there will be funded upon the terms proposed by this city. Frequently medicines that will stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient; they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and, in fact, they clog the action of the very organs that caused the cough.
